

The elevator pings, its doors open, and Katharine steps inside.

KATHARINE

Well, excuse me, but I've now known you for about five minutes. You started them off by telling me my Grandmother was dead and then, that she wasn't, and now you seem to be objectifying either me or my bike so I'm sure you won't mind if we remain silent during our elevator ride up? Coming?

Said as she enters the elevator.

Grant follows helplessly in behind her.